Summary

A self-taught developer from Pakistan, learning by building — not just watching tutorials.

I've built frontend projects using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, focusing on clean, responsive, and user-friendly interfaces.

Right now, I'm in the 4th phase of my frontend journey and actively learning Data Structures & Algorithms to improve problem-solving and core logic.

I'm looking for internships, junior frontend roles, or freelance work where I can grow through real-world experience and contribute with consistency and honesty.

Still learning. Still building.
